

Automated Identity Verification Report

Generated: September 03, 2026 21:06 UTC

49 / 100

Weak match signal — manual review strongly recommended
Composite identity-confidence score

Verification path: Full identity verification. The phone number and/or email address did not pass the preliminary check, so this applicant completed government ID verification and a biometric selfie match.

Important Disclaimer

This report is generated by an automated identity-signal system. Depending on the results of a preliminary phone and email check, it may include government-ID document verification and biometric selfie matching, or it may reflect only the preliminary check -- the report always states which path was taken. It does NOT constitute a determination that this person is or is not who they claim to be, and it is NOT a consumer report under the Fair Credit Reporting Act. The score reflects the strength of available corroborating signals only. Reports based on the preliminary check alone confirm that the submitted phone number and email address are real, reachable, and not obviously disposable -- they do NOT confirm that the person who submitted them is the rightful owner of that phone number or email address, since someone using another person's real contact information would also pass this check. False positives and false negatives are possible on either path. The recipient of this report is solely responsible for reviewing the underlying findings and making any employment decision. Do not take adverse action against an applicant based solely on this score without independent review and, where applicable, without following FCRA-adjacent notice/dispute procedures for your jurisdiction.

This report was produced by Blue Summit Technologies's internal automated verification tool and reflects data available from phone/email validation (AbstractAPI) plus government ID verification and biometric selfie matching (Persona) at the time of generation. It is confidential and intended only for internal hiring/verification use.
